Subject:- Construction of Shendoli approach road.

No.17/D/SC/A/4422 of 1955-56.
Poona No.1, 18 Nov., 1955.

Submitted to Government in the Agriculture and Forests Department, Bombay.

2. While forwarding the case papers to the Collector, the Conservator of Forests, Southern Circle had not made it clear whether the disforestment of the area would lead to honey-combing of the forest or result into formation of awkward boundaries and whether there was any objection to the proposed disforestment from the forest point of view. The Conservator was therefore requested to submit his report in the matter. The Conservator now reports that the disforestment of the area will result in honey-combing the forests but this objection was overlooked as the area in question is required for public purposes and the area involved is very little viz. 2 gunthas.

3. The Conservator presumes that the question of awkward boundaries etc. is to be considered only in cases where forest lands are to be granted in favour of cultivation or for inforest settlement and not in the case of lands required for public purposes.

4. The Conservator's presumption that the question of awkwardness of boundaries is to be considered only while disforesting lands given out for permanent cultivation appears to have been based on article 329 of the B.F.M. Vol.II. However this presumption is not correct as even in other cases of disforestment, the question of the awkwardness of boundaries will always have to be taken into consideration.

5. As, however, the area involved in the present case is only 2 gunthas there is no objection to the proposed disforestment of the 2 gunthas of land out of J.S.No.88 A.

The conservator of Forests, S.C., Belgaum has also agreed to the above-said proposals.
